

UNDERGRADUATE EMPHASIS (SUB-PLAN) REQUEST FORM
MAJORS WITHOUT EXISTING EMPHASES (SUB-PLANS)

Requests for the creation of a new emphasis requires approval from the school director/department head (managing administrator), college academic dean, Curricular Affairs, Undergraduate Council (UGC), and College Academic Administrators Council (CAAC). Complete this form (for each proposed emphasis) and submit to Martin Marquez (martinmarquez@email.arizona.edu), no later than January 31, 2020 to be considered for inclusion in the 2020-2021 Academic Catalog.

- I. Requested by (College & School/Department): College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, School of Government and Public Policy
- II. Proposer's name, title, email and phone number: Faten Ghosn, Associate Professor & Director of Undergraduate Studies at the School of Government and Public Policy, ghosn@email.arizona.edu, (520-621-7321)
- III. Degree, major and number of students currently enrolled in the major (include dual majors): BS in Public Management and Policy, 118
- IV. Total number of students that have completed the major in past 3 years: 231
- V. Minimum number of units required to complete the major (do not include foundation, general education, general electives or supporting coursework): 45
- VI. Name of the proposed emphasis: Public Policy
- VII. Campus and location offering-check the campus(es) and location(s) where this emphasis will be offered.

- VIII. Provide a rationale for the proposed new emphasis. Survey your current majors to provide evidence of student interest in/demand for the proposed emphasis – attach the survey questions and results at the end of this proposal. Write a short summary of the findings of the survey. You may also include external data (Bureau of Labor Statistics, reports/letters of support from relevant bodies, etc.). Curricular Affairs can provide a job posting/demand report by skills obtained/outcomes of the proposed emphasis. Please contact Martin Marquez to request the report for your proposal.

Since the establishment of the School of Government & Public Policy in 2010, we have introduced 2 new majors (BS in Criminal Justice Studies in 2012 and BA in Law in 2014), and currently have about 2400 majors across all four degrees (Criminal Justice Studies = 816; Political Science = 741; Public Management & Policy Concentration = 118; Law = 715). Within Public Management & Policy Concentration (PMPC) the major strengths of the school are in 3 areas: Environmental Policy, Public Administration & Management, and Public Policy. These concentrations are all crucial to preparing students for careers in government and non-profit sectors, which are the two primary career destinations of our graduates from this program. In Political Science, we have 7 sub-plans (American Politics, Comparative Politics, Foreign Affairs, General, Ideas & Methods, International Relations, and Law & Public Policy) that students can specialize in and which appear on their transcripts. This has been extremely popular and our PMPC students would like their areas of specializations to also appear on their transcripts and resume.

- IX. At minimum, provide two unique learning outcomes for the proposed emphasis. Which courses in the emphasis will introduce, practice, and/or assess the learning outcomes? Use the table below to provide the information. Add rows as needed. Delete example (EX) row before submitting:

Learning Outcome	Introduced	Practiced	Assessed
Students will be able to critically analyze policy problems related to economic, social and political issues	PA 206	PA 480	PA 420, PA 421
Students will demonstrate a basic understanding of the policy making process within the American Political system surrounding economic, social and political challenges	POL 201	PA 480	POL 483

- X. Requirements to meet 40% commonality across emphases. ABOR Policy 2-221-c. Academic Degree Programs Subspecializations requires all emphases within a major to share at least 40% curricular commonality across emphases (known as “major core”-courses counting towards major units and major GPA). List the required major core curriculum required of all emphases. Refer to your existing advisement report\(s\), if needed. Include the prefix, course number, course title and number of units. Add rows as needed. Delete example (EX) rows before submitting.

- XI. Requirements specific to the proposed emphasis. List the required emphasis core, electives, and any special conditions students must meet to complete the emphasis using the table below. Include the prefix, course number, course title, and units for each course. Provide email(s)/letter(s) of support from home department head(s) for courses not owned by your department. Highlight and label (NEW) any new courses that must be developed for the emphasis. Add rows as needed. Delete example (EX) rows before submitting.

Note: a proposed emphasis having similar curriculum with other plans (within department, college, or university) may require completion of a comparison chart. Total units required for each emphasis must be equal.

PA 344	Law & Public Policy	Analysis of selected principles of criminal law, criminal procedure and correctional law.		Fall, Spring, Summer	Govt & Pub Policy	Polakowski, Michael P Tryon, Brandon Larry
PA 403	Political Networks	This course introduces political networks as a lens to better understand critical issues in political science, public management, public policy, and criminal justice. Political networks are a method to describe the complex relationships between political actors, whether the actors in question are lawmakers, interest groups, or even covert organizations that strive to disrupt political systems. This course will introduce students to major research questions in the study of political networks, as well as their applicability to understand and manage real-world problems. Students will gain the ability to work with network data and apply network theory to the analysis of critical societal issues.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Henry, Adam D.
PA 405	Program Planning & Evaluation	Introduces processes of program planning and evaluation in the public and non-profit sectors. Includes goals setting and needs assessment methods, and quantitative and qualitative techniques of program analysis and evaluation.		Fall, Spring, Summer	Govt & Pub Policy	Henry, Adam D.
PA 406	Bureaucracy, Politics & Policy	Description and analysis of the executive branch of government: how federal agencies capture policy-making; why bureaucracy develops; the rules of bureaucratic culture; who controls the administrative branch.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Tidd, John M
PA 419	Terrorism and Counterterrorism	This course addresses the political causes and consequences of the use of terrorist violence as well as the variety of methods employed by the state in response to this violence.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Ryckman, Kirssa L Braithwaite, Alex R
PA 420	Prohibition, Legalization, Regulation: Governing the Use and Abuse	Policy makers have long struggled to regulate intoxicating substances, including alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, and opioids. While some of these substances are widely used for recreational or medicinal purposes, they can have significant deleterious effects on both the individual and		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Boustead, Anne of Intoxicating Substances	societal levels. Furthermore, although evidence suggests that some policies to limit consumption of these substances may improve social welfare, other policies may unintentionally exacerbate societal inequality and cause further harms to public health and safety. In this course, we will analyze the various policy approaches that have been used to manage intoxicating substances, paying particular attention to the policy actors that have been involved, policy mechanisms that have been used, and the consequences of these responses. Simultaneously, we will explore the principles and analytic tools commonly employed during evidence-based policy making, and examine how they may be used to address regulation of intoxicating substances. While we will investigate efforts to regulate a variety of substances, we will pay particular attention to developments surrounding the legalization of marijuana.

PA 421	Cyber Crime, Surveillance, and Privacy	This is a one-semester undergraduate seminar on cybercrime, surveillance, and privacy. While the development of the internet and related technologies have fundamentally transformed society, not all of these changes have been positive. In addition to facilitating rapid economic and social exchange, the internet has also transformed traditional methods of engaging in and investigating criminal actions, and enabled entirely new categories of illicit activities. Careful regulation of the internet can maximize social benefits while disincentivizing harmful activity. However, identifying, implementing, and evaluating these regulations requires a combination of technology and policy expertise, as well as the ability to engage with decisionmakers in both the public and private sector. In this course, we will both explore the tools used to conduct policy analysis and apply those tools to a wide variety of cyber-related policy problems. The class will begin by exploring the engineering and infrastructure necessary to implement commonly-used consumer technologies such as telephones and the internet. We will then turn to the ways in which this technology can be used for harmful ends, including cyber crime, cyber terrorism, and cyber warfare. As the internet has also transformed the tools that can be used to counteract these harmful activities, we will then discuss electronic surveillance and the ways that electronic surveillance can challenge and complicate long-standing societal understandings of privacy. We will conclude with a series of case studies, where we will further investigate the topics learned in class by applying them to a series of contemporary policy issues.		Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Boustead, Anne
PA 443	PA 443 - White Collar Crime:	This course is about crime and misconduct in organizations, how much there is, what it is like and what the government can and cannot do		Fall	Govt & Pub Policy	Simon, Leonore

	Law & Public Policy	about it. The readings, topics and discussions blend theory and research with current examples of white collar crime.
PA 446	Crime & Public Policy	Role of government in the prevention and control of crime.		Fall, Spring, Summer	Govt & Pub Policy	Tryon, Brandon Larry
PA 461	Global Climate Change	Global climate change is widely considered the greatest threat confronting societies and governments today. This course will cover the scientific evidence of global climate change, the role of science in policy and decision making, major policy options and their ethical implications, and the response of international organizations, businesses and the community to the environmental impacts of this issue.		Fall	Govt & Pub Policy	Schlager, Edella
PA 479	Intelligence and U.S. National Security	Overview of the role of intelligence in the formulation and execution of US national security policy. Will include a detailed look at challenges facing both the analysis of intelligence information and the introduction of that analysis into the national security policy process. Will also entail close reading and discussion of selected declassified intelligence documents.		Fall	Govt & Pub Policy	Tidd, John M
PA 481	Environmental Policy	Role of government in management of energy, natural resources and environment; process and policy alternatives; special attention to the Southwest.		Fall	Govt & Pub Policy	Baldwin, Elizabeth Henry, Adam D.
PA 482	Environmental Governance	This course introduces the concept of sustainable development as a policy goal, and explores the complex role of governance systems in promoting or inhibiting sustainability. Four major barriers to environmental sustainability are examined, including: 1) path dependency of policy choices, 2) collective action dilemmas, 3) conflicts over values and beliefs, and 4) the difficulty of translating scientific knowledge about coupled human and natural systems into effective policy solutions. This course emphasizes the understanding of practical solutions to problems of sustainability that are grounded in theories of public policy and management.		Fall	Govt & Pub Policy	Henry, Adam D.
POL 483	Urban Public Policy	Analysis and discussion of social, economic, and political problems and proposed solutions in changing urban environments.		Fall	Govt & Pub Policy	Smith, Craig
PA 484	Environmental Management	This course is a survey of environmental management and economics to maximize social benefit. Covering pollution control, nonrenewable resource extraction, and natural resource management, we address both theory and policy in practice to determine when markets work, when they fail, and what policy can do to help. We also discuss the taxonomy of value and introduce stated- and revealed-preference valuation techniques. This course aims to empower students with a set of tools to rigorously evaluate a range of real-world issues at the human-environment nexus through the synthesis of science, economics, and policy. Basic math (graphing and algebra) will be used in this course, but all concepts will be reviewed during the first class.		Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Bakkensen, Laura

POL 309	The Judicial Process	Structure, function, and processes of the "third branch" of the American government.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Tryon,Brandon Larry
POL 325	Foundations of Political Psychology	This course will introduce students to political psychology, with an emphasis on how psychology may be used to understand mass political behavior, political movements, race and intergroup conflict, and attitude change		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Weber,Christoph er
POL 330	Minority Groups and American Politics	Political problems of the poor; analysis of systematic poverty in the U.S. and theories of causation; selected policy problems: education, housing, job training, enforcement of anti-discrimination statutes; future of "power" movements.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Gonzalez, Frank
POL 469	Law & Social Change	The motivating question for this course is whether or not significant social, political, and/or economic change can be achieved through the courts.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	McDaniel, Judith
POL 470	Constitutional Law: Federalism	Development and analysis of constitutional law of the U.S.; problems of distribution of powers.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Westerland, Chad L
POL 471	Constitutional Law: Civil Liberties	Analysis of the constitutional guarantees of civil liberties in the U.S.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Westerland, Chad L
POL 474	The Art of Diplomacy & Negotiation	Each day offers new challenges that require we possess necessary skills to understand and manage our surroundings. Negotiation skills, when used appropriately, are a powerful tool in one's toolbox. This course introduces hands-on skills, tools and techniques that are necessary in achieving successful outcomes in negotiations. The course combines theoretical knowledge of leading negotiation scholars as well as practical experience. The primary focus is on enhancing one's personal ability in dealing with conflict/disagreement. As a result, students will be engaged in games, group discussions and creative tasks, inside and outside the classroom.		Fall, Spring	Govt & Pub Policy	Halawi- Ghosn, Faten Yasser

- XV. Special conditions for admission to/declaration of this emphasis – explain in detail the criteria to declare this emphasis, including GPA requirements, completion of courses prior to declaration, application process, interviews, etc. These conditions must be approved by faculty governance to be enforced.

None

- XVI. Emphasis productivity – provide a detailed plan in the case the emphasis does not attract the number of anticipated students and/or the new courses have low enrollments. Will emphasis courses continue to be offered as described in Section XIII and XIV or will students be offered alternative courses from outside the emphasis as substitutions? Is the department/school/college committed to offering the courses regardless of the emphasis productivity?

Given that the school has about 2400 students and several of our classes are cross-listed across our 4 majors we are not concerned at all that our classes will have low enrollments. Many of these classes are currently being taught with cap sizes of 40 and 50.

- XVII. Do you want the emphasis name to appear on the transcript?  Yes  No

- XVIII. Do you want the emphasis name to appear on the diploma?  Yes  No

- XIX. Anticipated semester and year to launch the proposed emphasis: Fall 2020

- XX. Number of new faculty hires required to deliver the emphasis: 0

- XXI. Budgetary impact– indicate new resources needed and source of funding to implement the proposed emphasis. If reallocating resources, indicate where resources will be taken from and the impact this will have on the students/faculty/program/unit.

No new resource or funding are requested to implement this program. The subplans are built around the strengths of the school and faculty. They are purely an official reflection of what the students are already doing, but which will help them on the job market.

Decision process for approval will include:

- 1) efficiency of course offerings.
- 2) course offerings are appropriate and match the expertise of the faculty.
- 3) evidence of sufficient student demand.
- 3) no major conflict with existing programs.
